What are cookies?

Cookies are a standard feature of web browser software that allow web servers to recognize the computer used to access a website. Cookies are small pieces of data that are stored by a user's web browser on the user's hard drive. Cookies store select pieces of information a user accesses on a web page to simplify subsequent interactions with that website by the same user or to use the information to streamline the user's transactions on related web pages. This makes it easier for a user to move from web page to web page and to complete commercial transactions over the Internet. Cookies are used to make your online experience easier and more personalized.

Cookies help us collect important business and technical statistics. The information in the cookies lets us trace the paths followed by users to our website as they move from one page to another; this helps us improve our navigation and make it easier for you to find things. Web server logs allow us to count how many people visit our website and evaluate our site's traffic patterns. We do not use these technologies to capture your individual e-mail address or any personally identifying information about you, although they do permit us to display information most likely to be of interest to you.

Sharing information with affiliates

If we host advertising for outside companies on our website we will take commercially reasonable measures to select product or service providers that appear to be responsible and provide privacy protections to their customers. However, we cannot make any representations about the practices and policies of these companies, and we do not warrant their products or services.

No sharing of information with third parties

We do not sell, trade or disclose to third parties any customer identifiable information derived from the registration for or use of our online services (including customer names and addresses) without your consent (except as required by subpoena, search warrant or other legal process, or in the case of imminent physical harm to yourself or others). When we use other agents, contractors, or companies to perform services on our behalf, we will ensure that the company protects your personal information in a manner consistent with this policy.

How do we secure information transmissions?

When you send confidential personal credit card or financial account information to us on our website, secure server software, encrypts all information you input before it is delivered to us. The information is scrambled en route and decoded once it reaches our web servers.

Other e-mail that you send us may not be secure unless we advise you that security measures will be in place prior to your transmitting the information. For that reason, we ask that you do not send confidential information such as social security or account numbers to us through an unsecured e-mail.

How do we protect your information?
